"My belief is that every good golf swing starts with a strong athletic set up. Therefore I concentrate with setup as our first port of call in all my lessons. Grip, alignment, stance, ball position and posture all contribute to a more powerful and well balanced golf swing.

I also like to take players on to the golf course to get inside your head and see what decisions you make in certain situations. Better course management will lead to a dramatic improvement in lowering your scores and being a more consistent golfer. Bookings essential."
